Student: Minxing Zheng
Supervisor: Ing. Kateřina Kořená, Ph.D.

1. Subject and Objective of the Thesis
   The subject of this thesis is the initial public offering (IPO). The choice of this subject is very important because of the growing role of the financial markets in China.
   The objective of the thesis is the comparison of selected IPO; this objective is clearly defined and this thesis fulfils the stated thesis assignment.

2. Structure of the Thesis
   The bachelor thesis is divided into five chapters including introduction and conclusion. The thesis is transparent and the content is defined understandable.

   The theoretical part of the thesis is focused on the description of the process of IPO and its main principles. The second part explains the functioning of IPO in the two main Chinese stock exchanges Shanghai Stock Exchange and Shenzhen Stock Exchange – including history, listing procedures etc.

   The main part of the thesis is the chapter Comparison of the selected IPO in China, in which author compares recent selected IPO in these stock exchanges. The author analyses the process of IPO of four companies, in particular Dahua Stock, Bank of China, ST Chaori and Kweichow Moutai and also describes some of their features important for good placement of the company in these markets. She compares the IPO situation in these two stock exchanges, too. Finally in the Conclusion the author summarizes the results of the whole comparison.

3. Formal Arrangement
   In general the formal arrangement of the thesis is good. The use of language is on a good level, but with some grammar and typing mistakes. The references to the internet sources and bibliography are used in a satisfactory way, pictures and graphs are used properly.

4. Question Proposal
   During the thesis defence I recommend to answer the following question:

   - Do you think that the number of IPOs in China will be in future increasing or decreasing?
5. General Comments

The thesis is elaborated on a good level. The solved problem is important for the participant’s country. The conclusions and results of the study are clear and complex and the final findings can be used especially for the pedagogical purposes. The participant proved knowledge of the problem, but the main part of the study could be worked out more in detail. The formal arrangement is satisfactory.

The work satisfies the requirements for the elaboration of the bachelor thesis; I recommend this thesis for the defence.
